Stay strong. I know its hard but us trans people are made of strong stuff. we are fighting for you now, so it will be easier for you when you're older. you just got to stay strong now, we made it through so you will too. I promise love Charlie Cross

Hey Friend,
Merry Christmas! Even if you don't celebrate this holiday, this time of year can be especially difficult for trans+ people. I want to remind you that even in the cold, dark, long winter nights you - just by being you - light up the world. I feel lucky to be able to write you this card and to be a part of the same community as you. We may never meet, but I hope this card shows you that you are not alone and I am so grateful that you are here.
